NOTICES:

A Friendly Reminder to All Cadets:

Do not wear your headphones while walking around on campus or they will be confiscated! This includes headphones in one ear or both. If they are Beats headphones, Mr. Segovia needs a new pair.

There is a bad flu going through San Diego that is leaving many people hospitalized. Please remember to consistently wash your hands, cover your cough/sneeze with your sleeve, and report to the HC if you are feeling sick.

In an effort to keep germs from spreading, please use the hand sanitizer that is mounted on the wall to your right when entering the Library.

SUMMER STEM INTERNSHIPS

NASA is looking to increase the number of students with disabilities pursuing science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) careers through our regular internship programs. This is not a program solely for students with disabilities. Internships are a good way to get real-world experience. NASA jobs can be found at <http://www.usajobs.gov> and students can apply for Summer 2018 now!

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, with a minimum GPA of 3.0 for high school; however, applicants must understand that the competition for internships is keen. High school students must be at least 16 years old at the time the internship begins. If you have additional questions please visit your counselor or see Dr. Disney in room 801 for more information.
