Hello Warrior Families-

Our academic team has been working diligently to ensure the transition to remote learning is as seamless as possible. I am so proud of our wonderful faculty and counselors, as the planning and collaboration between everyone has been incredible! I have included important information below regarding our virtual learning plan. Teachers will be communicating specifics about their classes to every Cadet in the coming days.

As mentioned in our last communication, it is vital for all Cadets to be utilizing their anawarriors.org emails for all academic communications. This is not only where they access emails, but also their Google Classrooms for each class, Google Hangouts, and other virtual learning tools. Online classes will officially begin on Monday, March 23rd. Cadets will be expected to stay current on all assignments, and parents/guardians are encouraged to check Google Classroom for information on all coursework, and Aeries for current grades. Links to Google Classroom will be shared by each teacher next week. Our faculty will be updating gradebooks by 4 pm on Tuesdays and 11:30 am on Fridays. We realize that many Cadets left their textbooks on campus, and teachers are planning accordingly to ensure digital resources are available through Google Classroom.

In order to best support all Cadets, teacher's will be available Monday-Friday morning to answer questions and offer guidance. Additionally, teachers will be available during other times each day as specified on Google Classroom. Cadets should expect anywhere between 30 to 45 minutes of work for each class each day, with Advanced Placement, Honors and Advanced courses requiring more.

We are asking parents and guardians to do their best to ensure Cadets are working diligently on their assignments each day. We encourage you to reach out to teachers should you have any questions about classes, coursework, etc. For Cadets who are missing work, Ms. Coe will be sending weekly emails detailing how many assignments each Cadet is missing. For Cadets who were missing any work prior to Spring Break, they will be expected to turn in this work remotely to their teachers as soon as possible.

In order to ensure this remote learning time is as equitable and supportive as possible, any Cadet experiencing issues with Wi-Fi, a lack of online access, or needing technical support should utilize the below contact information: Call (760) 547-5255 between hours of 8AM - 4PM Pacific Time, or email techsupport@armyandnavyacademy.org

AP Testing

Below is the most recent information from the CollegeBoard:

We are working to give every AP student the opportunity to claim the credit they've earned. We are finalizing streamlined AP exam options that would allow students to test at home, depending on the situation in May. We will communicate the details by March 20th.

Additional resources will be made easily accessible to AP students through mobile phones and other devices. These include free online AP lessons and review sessions from some of the top AP teachers in the country

Counseling

The Counseling team will be sending out communication later today regarding how they will be supporting your Cadet during this time.

Thank you all for your patience and support, we truly are a strong Warrior Family.

Sincerely,

Ethan Segovia
Dean of Academics
